Waqf and its role in the civilization advancement production:

Islamic Waqf is one of the solemn worships upon which Islam has advocated for. Allah Almighty said: "By no means will you attain righteousness unless you spend in God's cause giving freely from what you love. And whatever you give, God knows it well." (Quran 3:92) The Messenger of God Mohammed, peace be upon him (ﷺ) said, "When a man dies, his deeds come to an end except for three things: Sadaqah Jariyah (ceaseless charity); a knowledge which is beneficial, or a virtuous descendant who prays for him (for the deceased).

Waqf is one of the oldest and most important human and civilizational systems. It arose and developed under the Islamic civilization, and it is considered the most effective and influential in achieving a comprehensive development and renaissance of society, because of the human content and confirmed social and economic benefit, which have proven successful in making progress, prosperity, development and growth over the past centuries. Educational waqf specifically have a profound impact in spreading science across generations, qualifying scholars, and supporting scientific research activities resulting in the innovations and inventions that led to producing the contemporary civilization. Most notable, some of the most prestigious reputable universities in America and Europe are based on Waqf resources.

Hence the importance of this Waqf investment project "The Blessed Tree", comes as one of Awais Al-Qarni productions. All the sons and lovers of Yemen participate in the investment in it, so that its proceeds will be returned to developing and qualifying Yemen's most distinguished, talented, and educated and preparing them to be leaders of the future, God willing.
